Across the Atlantic.

The voyage of Columbus across the Atlantic resulted in a development of marine traveling towards the Western continents undreamed of prior to his adventurous trip. So, it will be noted in future time, that Lieut. Commander Reed's one-stop trip from New Foundland to Portugal be recognized as a forerunner of airies of aerial sails, or wings, to follow the nomenclature of the air.

The flight of the NC-4 was remarkable in more ways than one. On May 8 it left Rockway, Long Island, but was forced to land off the Massachusetts coast, but reached Halifax on May 14. The next day it journeyed from Halifax to Trepassey Bay, N. E., 460 miles, and on May 16-17 went from Trepassey to Horta, in the Azores, 1,350 miles, in about fifteen hours. On May 20 it went to Ponta Delgada, another island, some miles further eastward. On May 27 it went the remaining 800 miles to Lisbon, Portugal, and completed the first aerial trip from America to Europe under its own power.

The flight across the Atlantic recalls an effort of Vaniman (?) in 1910, who set out for Europe in a dirigible, which was wrecked by a storm two days out at sea. He was rescued, and in 1912 started from Akron, Ohio, on a second voyage, but explosion in midair resulted in his death. A Frenchman, within recent weeks, set out for an Atlantic flight, but was forced to land in Africa (he was going to Brazil) although he covered more miles than Reed did in any single flight.

Fifteen Years—and Then?

Those who read Ambassador Morgenthau's story of Turkish intrigue at Constantinople will weigh carefully his statement that in fifteen years the United States would be in another war.

From what quarter, for what causes, or with whom the danger impedes the distinguished diplomat does not say; as a matter of policy he could not express himself. But, he is not the only man thinking the same thing.

The Versailles peace conference is attempting to settle world-wide questions. Some of the statesmen present are making an honest effort to secure a measure of permanent peace, but there are some decisions and some arrangements which will not last the fifteen years Ambassador Morgenthau sets as the limit.

America entered European broils because a world at war affected everybody, and the time came at last when we had to enter the conflict.
We are now represented at the peace conference in the hope that righteous settlements can be made which will obviate our entering another war in the future, but will our hopes be in vain?

The League of Nations presents the only firm ground upon which to rest our aspirations and hopes for peace.
If this can be made strong enough and kept righteous enough, it will maintain peace in the world—otherwise, there'll be more wars. Fifteen years is not too near a limit for wars (not necessarily with present enemies) over conflicts nations now signing peace as joint victors.

The Needs For Homes.

Throughout America the cry for houses is heard. The government of the United States, or of the individual States, can do nothing better for the common good than to arrange for long term loans to those wishing to build their homes. A nation of home owners is firm as a rock; a nation of renters is in peril.

Many of our citizens never reach the stage of accumulated wealth.

Most of them own their homes, but the increasing number of those who are compelled to rent is alarming.
The man who never accumulates the nucleus of the price of a home can own his home if the government will give him plenty of time. Instead of renting for half his life he will pay for his place, own it, and take care of his family to better national and local advantage.

This may be radical to the owners of great mansions. It may not be to the taste of the owners of the rented homes, but it is in keeping with the betterment of mankind. A community of renters is not to be desired. The American homes is a great institution, and a little back yard helps it flourish.

The World Hope of Peace.

Dispatches showing that Great Britain and Japan have entered into a favorable combine towards their mutual trade surprise Americans. In fact, many pacts of this kind we may never know unless President Wilson uproots them in the same manner that he uncovered the secret treaty of London.

The people of the world, however, have a right to know just what secret settlements have been made in the interest of trade. If trade is of more importance to nations than good-will it is time for us to follow other leads and make a few arrangements on our own hook. Peace will never come as a result of unfair arrangements to land the commerce of the world. Unless peoples are free to trade where the superiority of their goods, or the supremacy of opportunity it is useless to talk of peace.

The quest for world trade has caused more wars than anything else. It will undoubtedly cause wars in the future unless equality is vouchsafed to all nations. Why can't diplomats learn from a sea of blood that what people want is peace, not international commerce built up by false restrictions, which inevitably cause strife.

Judge Lindsay's Fine.

Judge Ben D. Lindsay obtained world-wide fame as a result of his juvenile court in Denver. He considered every boy or girl charged with a crime as a ward, not a criminal, and he solicited their confidence about their troubles. A little girl of thirteen once told him about a row between her father and mother, in which the former was killed. In the face of difficulties Judge Lindsay has kept the faith he pledged!

The mother was being tried for murder, and Judge Lindsay refused to reveal to the jury what the little girl told him. The presiding judge fined him $500 for contempt of court, and the punishment was suspended when the district court's order was appealed to the State Supreme Court. Recently, this higher body affirmed the fine, and Judge Lindsay will have to pay.

Whether Judge Lindsay acted wisely in making a pledge not to reveal what he was told or not, even if commanded by courts, may be an open question; but, everybody will admire him for standing firmly by his own pledged word. The $500 may pinch a little, but broken faith would have pinched even more.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Paris People Should Know How To Read and Heed Them.

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is often present day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells may occur.

Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Paris evidence proves their worth.

Chas. Stewart, tinsmith, Lilleston avenue, says: "I have had three or four attacks of lumbago in the past few years, the first being the worst.

There was a constant, dull ache in my back all the time and often sharp, cutting pains darted through it. It sometimes seemed as though I could hardly endure the misery. I tried different remedies with no results.

I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them from the Ardrey Drug Co. The first box helped me and I continued taking them until cured.

Attacks since then have always been slight. Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Stewart had. Foster-Milburn

ARMY WORMS WORK HAVOC

One farmer, living on the Nicholasville pike, near Versailles, had six acres of tobacco and ten acres of bluegrass, from which he expected to gather seed, completely eaten up by army worms. Another had ten acres of tobacco destroyed. Barley has about all been cut. Wheat harvest is on now and a big demand for harvest hands at high prices is the result.

CROSSED BREEDS OF DUCKS

"Burbanked" Type, in Louisiana, Will Not Migrate, as is Customary With the Species.

Stanley Cilsby Arthur, ornithologist of the conservation commission of Louisiana, is authority for the statement that the state "Burbanked" wild duck, the cross of which "set," and they produced a duck that will remain in the state the year round.

Louisiana is visited by the green-head mallard, which leaves in the spring for the North. Also by another species known as the summer mallard, or Florida duck, which spends its summer in Louisiana and winters in Mexico and Central America. It leaves Louisiana on the approach of cold weather.

The experiment of crossing the greenhead mallard, the winter visitor, with the summer mallard, or Florida duck, the summer visitor, was conducted by M. L. Alexander, conservation commissioner, and Edward A. Mc-Ilhenny at Avery Island, a state preserve.

Species of the two ducks were trapped, mated and the eggs proved fertile. The experiment proved a success. The "Burbanked" ducks have been termed the "Louisiana mallard." The "Louisiana mallard" has produced its own young, and Mr. Arthur says the cross has "set."

Hundreds of these "Louisiana mallards" were released on Marsh Island, a wild life sanctuary, so that they might perpetuate themselves.

OLDEST OF EARTH'S CITIES

Damascus Has Seen the Rise and Fall of Races Which Are Mere Shadows in History.

What times and changes such a place as Damascus has seen, what waves of peoples, what rise and fall of kings, what increase and collapse of greatness, what kaleidoscopic history! What the autochthonous population of the place was is a point probably past historic decision. The earliest records find in control a race indefinitely related to the Mesopotami-ans. Then the march of races and peoples begins, and the rise and fall of conquerors. Hittites, Amorites, Suti, Khabiri, Jews, Assyrians, Cim-merians, Egyptians, Armenians, Arabs, Persians, Macedonians, Parthians, Romans, Seleucids, the Omayyads, the Abbasides, Mongols, Tartars, modern Egyptians, Ottomans, and the English, have swept through this oldest dwelling place of gregarious humanity, and still it flourishes, to this day as populous as such places as Kansas City or Denver or Indianapolis, Louisville, St.
Paul, or Rochester, and relatively far more important.

Merits of October Ale.

Not the fluid of that name, but the elixir that is in this golden October sunshine. Influenza germs are deadly afraid of clear, cool, snappy sunshine.
The whole outdoors is full of it, and the invitation to enjoy it is so urgent and cordial that the man or woman who refuses to accept it is only adding to the risk that the doctors declare everybody is assuming these epidemic days. Nature is trying to add compensation for the anxieties attendant upon contagious disease. In her cornucopia she has stored remedies that are not only effective but pleasant to take. Get out of doors into the October sunshine that has been and will be pouring its curative and stimulating forces over the country. The walking is fine and the landscape never more varied and beautiful. The forests are garbed in brown, purple and gold. The silences are eloquent with the slumber song of nature. The air is a tonic for tired, taut nerves and bodies. Get out of doors and shake off the fears as well as the germs of influenza.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Old Valenciennes.

"The town of lace," wrote William of Orange to the Estates on the 13th of April, 1677, "is lost to us. We are very sorry to be obliged to tell your high mightinesses that it has not pleased God to bless on this occasion the arms of the state under our guidance." But lace is no longer made in Valenciennes, the capital of an arrondissement in the department of the Nord, and a fortress of the second class. But it is nevertheless a quaint town, with sufficient seventeenth century houses to give it a medieval appearance. The handsome Hotel de Ville is also largely seventeenth century work, and before the war contained a large collection of tapestries and of paintings, especially of the Flemish school. The city also possessed an academy of sculpture and painting, a museum of natural history, a lycee and an arsenal.

Gigantic Punch Bowl.

The largest punch bowl ever used was at a party given at Allent by Admiral Edward Russell in 1694, when a marble fountain was converted for the occasion into a punch bowl. The ingredients used in brewing the punch included four hogsheads of brandy, one "pipe" of Malaga wine, 20 gallons of lime juice, 2,500 lemons, 1,300 pounds of white sugar, five pounds of grated nutmeg, 300 toasted biscuits and eight hogsheads of water. A boy in a boat filled the cups of the 6,000 persons who partook of the contents of the mighty punch bowl.

KENTON PHYSICIAN PRAISES TRUTONA

Dr. Richards' Indorsement Backed by 35 Years' Constant Medical Practice.

KENTON, TENN., June 26.—Dr.
J. Richards, 78 years old, has been a resident of this vicinity for years and is well known and highly respected by everyone. For the past 35 years Dr. Richards has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine here, during which time he has won the confidence of thousands of acquaintances, together with the credit of being among the most prominent physicians in this part of Tennessee.
His following public indorsement of Trutona will give to thousands faith in the perfect tonic which can only increase with use of the new medicine:

"Everyone knows that a man in my profession would not and could not recommend a medicine unless it was really one of merit," Dr. Richards said. "But I have tried Trutona and I know it to be a tonic of real merit."

"I've been annoyed with nervousness for several years. My appetite was poor, too, and I found it difficult to rest well at night.
"Duty compels me to recommend the new tonic as an appetizer, a strengthening, system builder and real nerve tonic. In short—a tonic that has real medicinal merit. I hope everyone suffering from nervousness, loss of appetite and a generally run down system will try Trutona."

Trutona is now being introduced in Paris at G. S. Varden & Son's.
